Timex Group India Ltd

Concall-tracker report · Q1 FY27 (Apr-Jun 2026) · Screener ticker TIMEX (BSE 500414) · NO-CONCALL PATH · web deep-dive · builds on the Q4-2026 report

No concall transcripts were available for the June quarter, so this report is based on a global web deep-dive. Timex held no earnings call for Q1 FY27. This report uses the company's Q1 results release and investor presentation (results 29 Jul 2026) and market coverage published up to 30 Sep 2026.

1. Snapshot

Timex Group India makes and sells watches in India: its own Timex brand plus licensed fashion labels such as Guess, Versace, GC, Nautica and Aston Martin. It assembles them at one paid-off plant in Baddi, Himachal Pradesh, and sells through shops, retail chains and online.

Q1 FY27 sales	Rs 219 cr	Up 30% on last year's June quarter. Good, but slower than the 73% jump in the March quarter, and a bit below Q4 in rupees.
Q1 FY27 net profit	Rs 25 cr	Up about 70% on last year. Profit again grew more than twice as fast as sales.
Operating margin (EBITDA)	about 16%	Out of every Rs 100 of sales, about Rs 16 is operating profit, up from about 13% a year ago.
Profit before tax	Rs 34 cr vs Rs 20 cr	Pre-tax profit up about 70% on the year.
Share price	about Rs 531 (29 Jul)	Fell about 4% on results day. It's still priced for fast growth after tripling in a year.

2. Coverage: sources used

Period / source	What it gave	Status
FY22 → Q4 FY26 (results, news, OFS coverage)	Brand scale-up, margin story, promoter stake sale	Carried forward from Q4-2026 report
Q1 FY27 results release & investor presentation (29-30 Jul 2026)	Quarter numbers, brand and channel growth, plant capacity	Newly read in full ★
Franchise India, MarketsMojo, ScanX, Univest, Quartr, Arthneeti (Jul-Sep 2026)	Figures cross-check, stock reaction	Newly read ★

Only the June-quarter material was read in full this time. The backstory comes from the Q4-2026 report.

★ Latest update highlights · Q1 FY27 (results 29 Jul 2026)

- Sales up 30%, profit up about 70%. Read: the margin story is intact, profit keeps outrunning sales.
- Brands: Timex up 42% on global tie-ups (Todd Snyder, J.Crew, Supergirl) and pricier Atelier models. Guess up 74% on new collections. Aston Martin is the fast-growing newcomer.
- Channels: online up 67%, trade (its biggest channel) up 51% on better sales per shop, and quick commerce growing with more dark stores.
- Capacity: the Baddi plant made about 4 million watches last year and is moving to 6 million this year on a single shift. Read: lots of room before any big spend.
- Tone: confident. The MD talked of profit growing faster than revenue and of investing in brands before the festive season. No numeric guidance given.

Business mix & capacity. Domestic vs export split isn't disclosed. The licences are for India, so treat it as almost all domestic. Capacity: about 4 million units made last year, going to 6 million on one shift, with room for more shifts. Read: output can grow a lot without a new plant.

★ Since our last report

Builds on the Q4-2026 report (FY26 results, Mar 2026 quarter). Prior verdicts: trigger YES, consistency MAYBE.

Prior read	What we said then	What Q1 FY27 shows	Movement
Trigger: brand portfolio + online + operating leverage	Clear and playing out	Margin up again, brands and online still growing fast, though overall sales growth cooled from Q4	Confirmed
Consistency	Delivers on numbers, but no calls and promoter sold down to 51%	Still no Q1 earnings call; no fresh promoter selling reported	Unchanged
Promise: capacity runway without big capex	Stated, not yet used	Ramp to 6 million units on a single shift this year	On-track
Risk: lumpy quarters	Dec 2025 quarter nearly emptied out on profit	June quarter held a strong margin	Improving

Verdict change: none. Trigger stays YES, consistency stays MAYBE. The numbers did what the story says, but there's still no spoken record to test promises against.

3. Earning-trigger thesis

★ The trigger: more famous brands, sold more online, out of a paid-off plant

The engine is the same as last quarter and it kept running. Timex keeps adding licensed labels and premium lines, pushes them online and through quick commerce, and makes them in a factory that's already paid for. So each extra sale carries more profit, which is why margin went from about 13% to about 16% on the year. The one soft spot: sales growth slowed from the blistering March quarter, so the stock now depends on the festive September and December quarters keeping pace.

Trigger	What the record says	Evidence so far	Time horizon	Strength	Change since last report
Brand portfolio scale-up	Add and grow licensed labels	Timex +42%, Guess +74%; Aston Martin ramping	Multi-year	Strong	unchanged
Operating leverage	Paid-off plant lifts profit faster than sales	Profit +70% on sales +30%; EBITDA margin ~16%	Near-term	Strong	↑ margin up again
Online and quick commerce	Sell more at low added cost	E-commerce +67%; dark-store expansion	Ongoing	Strong	unchanged (slower than FY26's +90%)
Capacity headroom	Grow output with shifts	4M → 6M units on single shift this year	Medium term	Moderate	↑ ramp now under way

4. Management consistency scorecard

No earnings calls, so this checks delivered numbers against the stated direction.

Period	What the story was	What actually happened	Verdict

FY22 → FY25	Turnaround, grow brand book	Sales Rs 264 cr → Rs 538 cr, steady profit	Delivered
FY26	Scale to ~Rs 800 cr, lift margins	Rs 799 cr, OPM 14%, debt cleared	Delivered
Q1 FY27	Profit to grow faster than revenue	Sales +30%, profit +70%, margin ~16%	Delivered
Disclosure	n/a	No earnings call held for the quarter; promoter at 51% after 2025 sales	Watch

Narrative drift: none. Every release tells the same story: brands, channels, margin. The tone is confident without promising numbers. The thin disclosure is the only thing keeping us from a clean YES.

5. Bottom line: two verdicts

Durable earning trigger? → YES vs last quarter: unchanged
Nothing moved this down. Margin rose again, both lead brands grew fast, and the plant is scaling on one shift. Sales growth did cool from the March quarter, so the festive half needs to keep the pace up, but the driver is clearly still live.

Management consistent? → MAYBE vs last quarter: unchanged
The delivery record got one more good quarter. But there was still no earnings call to test what management promises, and the 2025 promoter sell-down into the rally hasn't been undone. Good numbers, thin disclosure.
